Sr. No.	R.I./O.No.	Subject.	Pages.
		Opinions under the Indian Law Reporters Act, 1875.
1.	O.No.7298. 1.7.1949.	Whether a reporter should be appointed at New Delhi to report cases decided by the Federal Court for the purposes of the Indian Law Reports.	1-3

Office of the R.L.A.

The Reporter is to be maintained for two purposes :- (1) Helping the I.L.R. series to report decisions which the Federal Court may not like to report in their authorised series on the ground that they are not of all India importance. The Indian appeals series reported decision of the Privy Council which had as the Secretary of the Ministry of Law acknowledges, peculiar value to them. That practice will have to be continued, even with the Federal Court. (2) As the High Court point out the reporter will help in supplying advance copies to the High Court through the I.L.R. series of judgments recorded by the Federal Court. The Official publication of the decision in the authorised series of the Federal Court takes time; and supply of advance copies of judgments will be of great use.

Moreover since the I.L.R. series is our authorised series, it is but proper that it should maintain its representative in the highest court in the land. The cost of maintaining a reporter is to be shared by all the Provincial Governments and would not amount to much compared to the return of really useful service in aid of the dispensation of justice.
